

CALL to Emerging Artists

Paid Opportunity to train with the SWALLOWING CLOUDS Educational Program tiger princess dance projects is offering a paid opportunity to train with the Swallowing Clouds™ Educational Program. We are seeking recent post-secondary school graduates with an interest in working in the arts and with children. The training will give practical and theoretical training in creating a multi-disciplinary work for children.

Selected participants will take part in one week of online and in-person training, approximately 15 hours at a rate of $18 per hour. Participants may have the opportunity to become a part of the Swallowing Clouds team as Swallowing Clouds Apprentice Facilitators (SCAFs).

Swallowing Clouds™ is a community literacy and dance-based project created by Yvonne Ng that has been running in Toronto Public Libraries since 2010. Through movement experimentation, written responses, music creation, visual and theatre arts, Swallowing Clouds artists work with children focusing on storytelling and creative process, allowing each participant to engage in creating their own story.

This opportunity is open to applicants living within the Greater Toronto Area between the ages of 19 and 29.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- An interest in working with children (age 9 -12 years) in a collaborative environment combining poetry, dance, music, theatre arts and visual arts.
- Organized, flexible, works well in a collaborative environment.
- Police check as required for working with the vulnerable sector.
- Proof of full COVID vaccination required.
- Experience working with groups in a community setting.
- Previous teaching experience is an asset, but not required.

TO APPLY please provide:

- Letter of intent (maximum 1 page)
- Resume outlining relevant experience (maximum 2 pages)
- Written samples (2-3) of poetry and/or videos of dance (maximum 10 minutes), and/or 2 - 3 digital files of visual art.
